On Thursday, June 12, the International Center organized a lunch meeting with international PhD students and the students from School of Medicine who belong to Global Health Research Club of UOEH to provide networking opportunities among students. A total of 29 participants, including faculty members of the International Center, attended the event. The students exchanged introductions about their home countries and areas of study, fostering meaningful interaction. Although the time was limited, the atmosphere was warm and lively, with engaging conversations. This gathering proved to be a valuable opportunity, and we plan to continue organizing such events to support network-building among students
