

<2026 [13th News]> Entrance ceremony for the graduate school student on Asia International Occupational Health Program 2026 (Posted on Apr. 8, 2026)

On April 3, 2026, the entrance ceremony for the graduate school student on Asia International Occupational Health Program was held, attended by President Seichi Horie and Prof. Masanori Hisaoka, Vice President and Dean of Graduate School of Medical Science. This year, UOEH welcomed one student from Vietnam who is going to study in the Dept. of Dermatology.

Following a warm welcome speech by President Seichi Horie, Prof. Hisaoka provided an introduction about the Graduate School of Medical Science. The ceremony concluded with a self-introduction by the new student in a friendly and welcoming atmosphere. This marks the 18th year since we accepted the first group of students under this program in 2007.

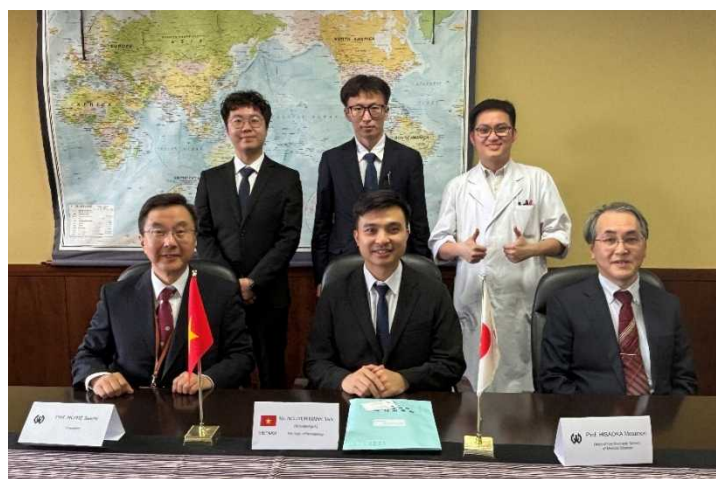

"Asia International Occupational Health Program" aims at

- Training international students with Japanese students to be an internationally successful researcher
- Improving quality of research activities in a highly competitive environment
- Building a future research network for international collaboration in the field of Occupational Health
