(Posted on Oct. 13, 2026)

UOEH welcomed five medical students and four faculty and staff members from Wonkwang University, Korea for the medical education exchange program from August 30 to September 12. The acceptance of students from Wonkwang University for this exchange program was resumed this academic year for the first time in 6 years.

Following the opening ceremony and welcome reception on the first day, the students participated in clinical clerkships alongside our medical students for a two-week period. Through these experiences, they enhanced their clinical knowledge while gaining insight into the similarities and differences between the healthcare systems and medical practices of Korea and Japan.

Outside of clinical training hours, the students also strengthened their friendships and engaged in meaningful cultural and academic exchanges. The program provided valuable opportunities not only for the visiting students but also for UOEH students, helping them broaden their international perspectives and deepen their understanding of global medical education.
